

To whom it may concern

2nd International PhD-Day of the AAEE Student Chapter

14th edition of Young Energy Economists and Engineers Seminar

On the 21st & 22nd March 2013 the second edition of the international PhD-Day of the AAEE Student Chapter took place at the Vienna University of Technology. We managed to bring the 14th Young Energy Economists and Engineers Seminar (YEEES) to Vienna at the same time, a semi-annual European event with same aim and format. The event was a great success with 22 presentations and in total 31 participants from ten countries (AT, DE, IT, IR, ES, UK, US, NL, DK, IE) as well as 12 senior discussants. Due to the support of three Austrian energy utility companies (Energie AG, Kelag and Verbund) we were able to offer a nice surrounding programme for our guests including a conference dinner and a visit of one of Vienna's famous wine taverns. We had very interesting discussion topics such as energy efficiency, electricity markets, the integration of renewable energy sources and support schemes. Many transnational contacts were established which will probably lead to future co-operations. The combination of the two events led to a further link and fruitful exchange between the IAEE- and YEEES-community.

Done in Vienna, 17 May 2013

Raphael Bointner
AAEE Student Representative

Marcus Hummel
AAEE Student Representative